Parivar The family

ANSWERED BY THE RAMAYANA AND MAHABHARATA

Life's questions, answered by our heritage

When plans collapse
Told he is exiled instead of crowned, Rama stays calm and still bows to his parents.
Ramayana · Ayodhya Kanda 18

Anger, pride and greed
The Yaksha asks Yudhishthira: give up anger and you do not grieve; give up greed and you are happy.
Mahabharata · Vana Parva 3.297

Rivalry in the family
Bharata refuses the throne and rules only as caretaker, with Rama's sandals on it.
Ramayana · Ayodhya Kanda 112

Doing the right thing at work
Vidura: the wise are not pulled from their purpose by anger, pride or shame.
Mahabharata · Udyoga Parva 5.33

Speaking up against wrong
In the dice hall, Draupadi asks the whole court a question no one can answer.
Mahabharata · Sabha Parva 2.60

Courage at any age
Old Jatayu stands up to mighty Ravana to protect Sita.
Ramayana · Aranya Kanda 51

Every month, one circle takes a real question to the two epics. Each story is told with its source.
